THE RED PILL:

A Course on Reality

The Red Pill is a small collection of documentaries on current events that will bring the viewer to realize and attain a completely new understanding of the world we live in. It is an uncensored, unfiltered exposure to a massive dose of information.

Nobody can take charge of their own destiny if they aren't presented with adequate information to do so. This video series is a beginner's course for those who want to know what our world is really like, along with what it could be, provided they are motivated enough to care a little more.

Ranging from cutting-edge sciences and cultural instability to the concept of consciousness and the very limits of the human psyche, we stand at the edge of the bottomless chasm known as the truth.

All are invited to attend but a warning: this will change you. This series is recommended to everybody but mainly to those who can handle the truth, who have an unstoppable will to survive. Can you do it?

The Future of Food is an introduction to the food that is commonplace in the American diet, as well as the dependency of our farmers on agribusiness giants like Monsanto. What does "Genetically Modified" mean? What have we done to our food?

Fall of the Republic shows how an offshore corporate cartel is bankrupting the US economy by design in favor of global governance. A scientific dictatorship is in its final stage of completion. This is not about left or right, liberal or conservative, Democrat or Republican. This is about freedom. "This is our last chance to not relive history".

The Awakening summarizes the battle for the future of the human race, addressed at length in earlier films. It addresses the nature of energy and consciousness, and spotlights what to expect in these upcoming years, as the human race moves ever closer toward Conscious Co-Creation, the Age of Enlightenment, and a new life, governed only by the limits of your imagination.
